DETAILED ACTION

CLAIMS PRESENTED

Claims 1-25 are presented.

CLAIM REJECTIONS

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claim 9 recites the limitation "the Security-Client header" in claim 8. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. For purposes of examination, examiner will interpret said limitation to be "a Security-Client header."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Honeisen (US PGP No. 20040255039).

As per claim 1 and 13, Honeisen teaches:

Art Unit: 2136

A method to set up a security association (SA) between a first node and a second node in a packet switched environment, comprising the steps of:

forwarding a prefix value in a message from the first node to the second node; and creating a security association between the first node and the second node using the prefix value.

[see paragraph 61] "A user agent UA of the mobile terminal A creates an SIP INVITE message INV (A) as shown in FIG. 4a including a first call identification Call-ID x. This SIP INVITE message INV (A) is sent to a user agent UA of the P-CSCF A acting as a user agent server towards the mobile terminal A."

[see paragraph 62] "P-CSCF A generates a new SIP INVITE message INV (1) based on the received, thereby in particular creating a new call identification Call-ID y different to call identification Call-ID x of SIP INVITE message INV (A)."

As per claim 2 and 14, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the packet switched environment is a IP Multimedia Subsystem (IMS) of a 3rd generation (3G) network.

[see paragraph 41] "Fig. 1 shows a schematic diagram of a network system according to 3GPP."

As per claim 3 and 15, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1 wherein the first node is User Equipment (UE).

[see rejection of claim 1, "user agent UA of the mobile terminal A"]

As per claim 4 and 16, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the second node is a Proxy Call State Control Function (P-CSCF)

[see rejection of claim 1, "P-CSCF"]

As per claim 5 and 17, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the message is a protocol message.

[see rejection of claim 1, "SIP"]

As per claim 6 and 18, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 5, wherein the protocol is a Session Initiation Protocol (SIP).

[see rejection of claim 5]

As per claim 7 and 19, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the message is a SIP REGISTER message.

[see paragraph 67] "Although the above routing of a SIP message has been described with reference to a SIP INVITE message, the same modifications during routing of a SIP message apply to any other type of message, such as ACK, OPTIONS, BYE, CANCEL and REGISTER, as well as extension messages as SUBSCRIBE, NOTIFY, PRACK, COMET, INFO, MESSAGE, and REFER."

As per claim 8 and 20, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the prefix value is included in a header of the message.

[see paragraph 42] "This SIP INVITE message INV (A) contains a normal session description including a SIP message header as shown in FIG. 3a comprising in particular one or more Via-header fields, a From-header field, a To-header field and a call identification Call-ID header field."

As per claim 9 and 21, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 8, wherein the header is a Security-Client header.

[see rejection of claim 8]

As per claim 10 and 22, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 9, wherein the prefix value is included in an extension parameter of the Security-Client header.

[see paragraph 62] "Besides creating the new Call-ID y, P-CSCF A also creates a new Via-header field that is used instead of the received Via-header field or fields and creates a new Contact-header field based on the received Contact-header field, thereby adding a maddr-parameter."

As per claim 11 and 23, Honeisen teaches:

Art Unit: 2136

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the prefix value has a first value if there is only one IP address or a second value if there is a plurality of IP addresses.

[see paragraph 68] "FIGS. 5a-5h show simplified diagrams of network systems comprising at least two network elements NE and at least two terminals A, B or three terminals A, B, C."

As per claim 12 and 24, Honeisen teaches:

A method as claimed in claim 1, wherein the prefix value is allocated by a Gateway GPRS Support Node (GGSN).

[see paragraph 3] "The session initiation protocol is an application level protocol which is used in packet switched environments, e.g. GPRS (General Packet Radio Service) systems, UMTS or packet cable (USA cable modem standard) systems."

As per claim 25, Honeisen teaches:

A system comprising a first node and a second node, said first and second node arranged to have a security association associated therewith, said security association being usable with a plurality of IP addresses.

[see rejections of claims 1 and 11]
